

Ombudsmen are Resident Advocates!

What does the Long-Term Care Ombudsman Program do?

The Long-Term Care Ombudsman Program advocates to protect and promote the rights of residents living in long-term care. Ombudsmen work to resolve problems individual residents face and effect change to improve quality of life and care.

The Ombudsman Program by the Numbers

In 2022 the Program:

Worked to resolve

3,321

problems identified by residents, their families, and other concerned individuals.

Top Five Problems:

- 1 Quality of Care
- 2 Residents' dignity and rights
- 3 Improper eviction or inadequate discharge planning
- 4 Inadequate environment
- 5 Dietary needs

Long-Term Care Ombudsman Programs are Dedicated to Solving Problems provided information regarding long-term care to 9,508

individuals.

made

4,327

visits to long-term care facilities.

provided information and assistance to 3,581

LTC facility managers and staff.

attended

22

family council meetings.

attended

932

resident council meetings.

provided

48

training sessions for long-term care facility staff.

The types of long-term care facilities visited by Ombudsmen include

- ▶ Nursing Homes
- ▶ Assisted Living

In Colorado:

- ▶ There are 16 Regional Programs
- ▶ 56 trained Ombudsmen to investigate and resolve complaints.

Policy SB22-154:

Assisted Living Home rules do not include resident rights protections for residents facing eviction/involuntary discharge. This poses safety concerns for residents who live in licensed assisted living homes. The Colorado Long-Term Care Ombudsman Program provided education and information to legislators about the negative impact of residents being displaced from their home. Added protections and appeal rights passed into Colorado law in 2022.

You can find further information here: <https://leg.colorado.gov/bills/sb22-154>

Leah McMahon
State Long-Term Care Ombudsman
Phone: 303-862-3524

The statistics in this graphic are based on unpublished FFY 2022 NORS Data.

For more information about the Long-Term Care Ombudsman Program, and volunteer opportunities: www.coombudsman.org